What is Arctic Pablo Coin ($APC)?

Arctic Pablo Coin (APC) is a meme-inspired cryptocurrency designed to deliver a fun, interactive experience while introducing innovative tokenomics. Unlike typical meme coins that recycle humor and hype, APC combines mystery, gamified mechanics, and real economic incentives to stand out in the crowded market.

A key feature of APC is its deflationary burn mechanism. Each week during its presale phase, unsold tokens are permanently burned, reducing overall supply and increasing scarcity. Furthermore, any unclaimed tokens after the presale will also be destroyed, reinforcing value protection for long-term holders.

Built on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC), APC powers a broader ecosystem that includes games, contests, and community rewards. What sets APC apart is its commitment to transparency—all token burns are recorded on-chain, providing verifiable proof of supply reduction. This level of accountability offers investors more than just viral appeal—it reflects a long-term vision backed by on-chain data and smart design.
