BTCC vs. Bitstamp: Overview

BTCC vs. Bitstamp
	BTCC	Bitstamp
Supported Cryptocurrencies	360+	Only 70+
Fees	Compared with other major crypto exchanges, the fees charged by BTCC is relative low, such as only charging 0.06% for both takers and makers	Compared with other major exchanges, Bitstamp's fee structure is relatively competitive, such as charging no fees for trades valued at less than $1,000
Security	Industry-leading security, with no reported hacks or security breaches to date	Despite laying great emphasis on security, there is still room for improvement; in 2015, Bitstamp experienced a security breach, resulting a loss of roughly 19000 BTC
Advanced Trading Features	Provide a large number of service, including spot trading, futures trading, and mining pools	Compared to BTCC, Bitstamp's feature set is limited, such as lack of margin trading, crypto derivatives features, NFT marketplace and a rewards card
Customer Service	Offer 24/7 excellent customer service via email and live chat, provide demo trading and rich learn resource for newcomers	There are still room for improvement in terms of customer service, due to its absence of live chat for customer support
Service Scope	Offer service in more than 100 countries and regions with more than 6 million registered users	Offer service to over 4 million customers globally
Ease of Use	Intuitive interface, catering to both newcomers and experienced traders	Offer a beginner-friendly interface, but the platform may not cater to the needs of seasoned traders looking for advanced features

Comparison Summary

After comparison, it is not difficult to find that the two old exchanges we are looking at are very different trading platforms. BTCC is an all-encompassing crypto exchange that supports various types of trading features, along with crypto futures trading, spot trading, copy trading, demo trading, etc. Bitstamp, on the other hand, is an old-school exchange platform focusing purely on crypto trading through instant buying and spot trading features.

In total, BTCC provides much more choices to users than Bitstamp. BTCC is better for investors who:

- Focus on larger selection of tradable coins
- Lay great emphasis on trading security
- Have access to many advanced trading features, like margin trading
- Obtain excellent and timely customer support
