Can TRON and Big Eyes Coin Price Reach 1000x Soon?

Meme coins, a unique creation of the cryptocurrency market, take their identity and value from internet memes.

Popular meme currencies like Dogecoin (DOGE) and Shiba Inu (SHIB) have propelled the cryptocurrency industry forward at an unprecedented rate thanks to the support of online celebrities and the passion of their fan bases. The newly released Big Eyes Coin (BIG) can serve as an example of how well-functioning meme cryptocurrencies could be.

Motivated by a need to address issues with DeFi (Decentralized Finance), such as poor liquidity, fraudulent NFTs, large carbon emissions, etc.

Big Eyes Coin (BIG) and TRON (TRX) are two cryptocurrencies that have been receiving a lot of attention recently. BIG has been featured in numerous articles over the past week, and TRX is now ranked #16 on CoinMarketCap (at the time of writing).

In spite of the fact that both initiatives have significant detractors, some analysts see substantial price increases in the near future. Find out if these two cryptocurrencies will soon reach 1,000 times their current value, if you're interested.

Will TRON (TRX) Soon Hit $1?

Since its introduction, TRON (TRX) has garnered significant interest because to its ambitious aspirations of creating a fully decentralized network. This indicates that TRON has been successful in translating a sizeable percentage of that enthusiasm into tangible assets.

TRON is now trading at about $0.06535, but how high can it go? Is it possible that the price could soon reach $1? I think we should look at the indicators.

To begin, the TRON film has recently received a great deal of attention. Investors and the press alike have shown considerable interest in the coin. To add to that, the TRON crew has lofty goals. They're working hard to realize their vision of a decentralized internet.

Third, TRON has cutting-edge technology. It has the potential to dramatically alter the economics of content production. Finally, TRON has received so much investment that its market cap has surpassed that of even the largest cryptocurrencies, such as Ethereum Classic (ETC). If these predictions hold true, TRON might be worth $1 within the next decade.

Big Eyes Coin (BIG) Expect a Huge Influx of New Investors

After a successful presale that brought in over $1 million, Big Eyes Coin has attracted the attention of many potential investors. Furthermore, it has inspired hope that its value could rise to a thousand times what it is now.

The initial goals of the initiative include a tax-free shopping zone, a limited supply of tokens, and a charity fund. There will be a total of 200,000,000,000,000 BIG tokens in circulation. Seventy percent of the token supply will be distributed through a presale, twenty percent will be reserved for exchanges, and five percent will be used to advertise the new meme coin. The remaining five percent will be given to an organization in need.

The company further claims that neither the selling nor the acquisition of the token would be subject to any kind of tax. However, there will be a 10% tax on NFTs, of which 4% will go to the actual seller, 5% to the holders, and 1% will go to charity.

Conclusion

The short answer is that it's possible that the value of both Big Eyes Coin and TRON may increase significantly in the near future. However, this can only happen if a number of factors align. Both currencies need extensive use and adoption to rise in value at first. Second, it is imperative that the current market conditions are fruitful for such investments.

Big Eyes Coin (BIG), on the other hand, hopes to set itself apart by giving back to the community and funding worthwhile projects. As a one-of-a-kind meme coin, it could potentially yield returns of 100x, even 1000x. Big Eyes Coin (BIG) might easily overtake all other meme coins in popularity.
