What Is Convex Finance (CVX)?

As a yield optimizer for the Curve Finance framework, Convex Finance aims to assist CRV in enhancing the ecosystem. Additionally, the protocol extends specific incentives to all users by letting them stake the asset. To connect to the decentralised applications, Convex Finance leverages the Ethereum network.

CVX is the native token of the project. Members of the forum can send and receive tokens, and they can do so whenever they choose, all while sharing in the system fees. Also, the partnership between the decentralised Finance (DeFi) software Zerion and the OKEx exchange platform, where Convex was initially listed, was a positive development.
