Which Cryptocurrency Should You Invest In in 2022? Dogelon Mars or Tamadoge?

Dogelon Mars is still quite well-liked by crypto fans despite its dramatic drop over the previous 10 months. Due to its limited practical application, however, it cannot be considered a top crypto asset for 2022.

Tamadoge, the meme coin with practical applications, is deserving of this honor. With its own in-game version of the Metaverse called the Tamaverse, Tamadoge is well on its way to becoming one of the best P2E crypto games currently available.

Tamadoge pets are raised, nurtured, and prepared for combat as the main focus of the game. Each newborn Tamadoge is a one-of-a-kind NFT. As soon as it reaches maturity, it can be used in the arena to combat other players for Dogepoints.

The Dogepool offers incredible rewards to the monthly leaders. The native token, or TAMA, of the game is the primary currency used for buying things like food, products, clothing, and more within the game world.

For the sake of the pet's health and to avoid having it morph into a Tamaghost, these goods are essential. You can take advantage of the low TAMA prices during the beta presale phase of Tamadoge by becoming an early investor.

TAMA's presale will run through the month of September, and crypto experts are predicting that the price of the token will never be lower than it is right now. Importantly, this endeavor has received widespread support from the community and has attracted a sizable number of investors in a relatively short amount of time.

Not only that, but it was created by industry-leading crypto, design, and marketing specialists. Tamadoge has potential long-term worth because of its compelling story and rewarding system depending on player skill.

Tamadoge coins are compatible with many powerful DeFi protocol platforms thanks to their ERC-20 conformance. It is possible that Tamadoge may rise to the top of the meme currency market due to its strong tokenomics, well-thought-out strategy, and ambitions to develop an augmented reality (AR) smartphone app.

In addition, this augmented reality smartphone software will enable users to tend to their dogs even while they are away from home or without access to standard computing facilities. Investors in Tamadoge can rest easy knowing that the project has been smart contract inspected by Solid Proof and that the team has through a Know Your Customer (KYC) verification process with CoinSniper.

Notably, TAMA deals don't incur any taxes. In the modern marketplace for meme coins, this is extremely unusual.
