Latest News & Updates on Bubblemaps (BMT): Bubblemaps V2 Goes Live, Bringing Advanced On-Chain Analytics to All Users

On May 29, the blockchain analytics platform Bubblemaps (BMT) announced the launch of the public version of its v2 product. This new iteration introduces advanced tools designed to assist users in detecting insider activity and mitigating memecoin-related scams. The decision to release V2 publicly was prompted by significant demand from the Solana (SOL) community, where users expressed a desire for deeper access and integration with trading tools such as Dexscreener and TradewithPhoton.

Bubblemaps V2 features several enhancements aimed at expediting on-chain analysis while providing more insightful data. Notable additions include “Magic Nodes,” which reveal concealed wallet connections among token holders, and “Time Travel,” a tool that reconstructs historical token distribution, potentially identifying early insider activities or coordinated accumulation efforts.

Before its public debut, Bubblemaps V2 was available exclusively to select users through a waitlist or direct invitations. The platform initiated a beta phase in November of last year, allowing interested individuals to sign up for early access via a waitlist. Access was granted based on timing or invitations from existing users. Additionally, Bubblemaps V2 is now accessible on Ethereum, BNB Chain, Base, Tron, and ApeChain.

What is Bubblemaps?

What is Bubblemaps?

Bubblemaps is the first supply auditing tool for DeFi tokens and NFTs. Our unique and colorful bubbles make on-chain data easy to understand.

Investigate wallets, reveal connections, and see through the noise of blockchain data.

CASE STUDIES

Bubblemaps is a blockchain analytics platform that brings greater transparency to transactions and suspicious pattern detection for DeFi projects. It gives users real-time token distribution information and wallet connections so that investors can make informed decisions. As the first supply auditing tool for DeFi tokens and NFTs, it simplifies complex blockchain data through intuitive, interactive visuals, allowing users to investigate wallets, uncover hidden connections, and identify potential scams with ease.

Widely used for research and investigations, Bubblemaps has exposed insider activity in projects like LIBRA and MELANIA, earning over 1 million monthly visits. Integrated with platforms like Etherscan and Pump.fun, it's become a key tool in crypto culture, helping users navigate the decentralized world with clarity and confidence.

With its game-changing approach to blockchain transparency, Bubblemaps enables users to track large token holders, analyze NFT projects, and detect fraudulent activity in unprecedented ways. Backed by top-tier venture capital firms and driven by a team of blockchain security experts, Bubblemaps is rapidly emerging as the go-to investigative tool for DeFi and NFT markets, setting a new standard for on-chain analysis and fraud detection.

How does Bubblemaps Work?

Bubblemaps revolutionizes blockchain analytics by transforming complex data into intuitive visual maps, eliminating the need for overwhelming spreadsheets and raw data analysis. Instead of sifting through endless transaction logs, users can instantly grasp token distribution and wallet connections through a dynamic bubble-based interface. Here's how it works:

- Each Bubble is a Wallet: The size of the bubble reflects the wallet's share of a token's total supply.
- Connections Between Bubbles: If wallets have interacted (sent or received tokens), they are linked together.
- Click and Explore: Users can click on any bubble to see its activity, helping them spot unusual patterns.

By combining simplicity, transparency, and real-time insights, Bubblemaps empowers both investors and analysts to make informed decisions and detect potential risks with ease.

BMT is the native token of the Bubblemaps analytics platform, launching alongside Intel Desk to enhance blockchain transparency and expose crypto scams. With $BMT, users can propose, vote, and decide which investigations take precedence, thus creating a transparent system where the most relevant topics are decided collectively.

As per its whitepaper, the main utilities of BMT token mainly include:

- Powers the community-driven mechanism of the Intel Desk, allowing users to submit cases, vote, and allocate our on-chain sleuthing resources
- Establishes an incentive system to boost adoption of The Intel Desk and grow our network of on-chain detectives.
- Unlocks advanced features on Bubblemaps V2.

BMT Tokenomics

The basis of BMT tokenomics will be the usage within the Bubblemaps ecosystem. BMT will be used to further investigations into other projects and their on-chain structure. Bubblemaps will launch its Intel Desk, a facility where users will submit cases, vote, and allocate on-chain investigation resources.

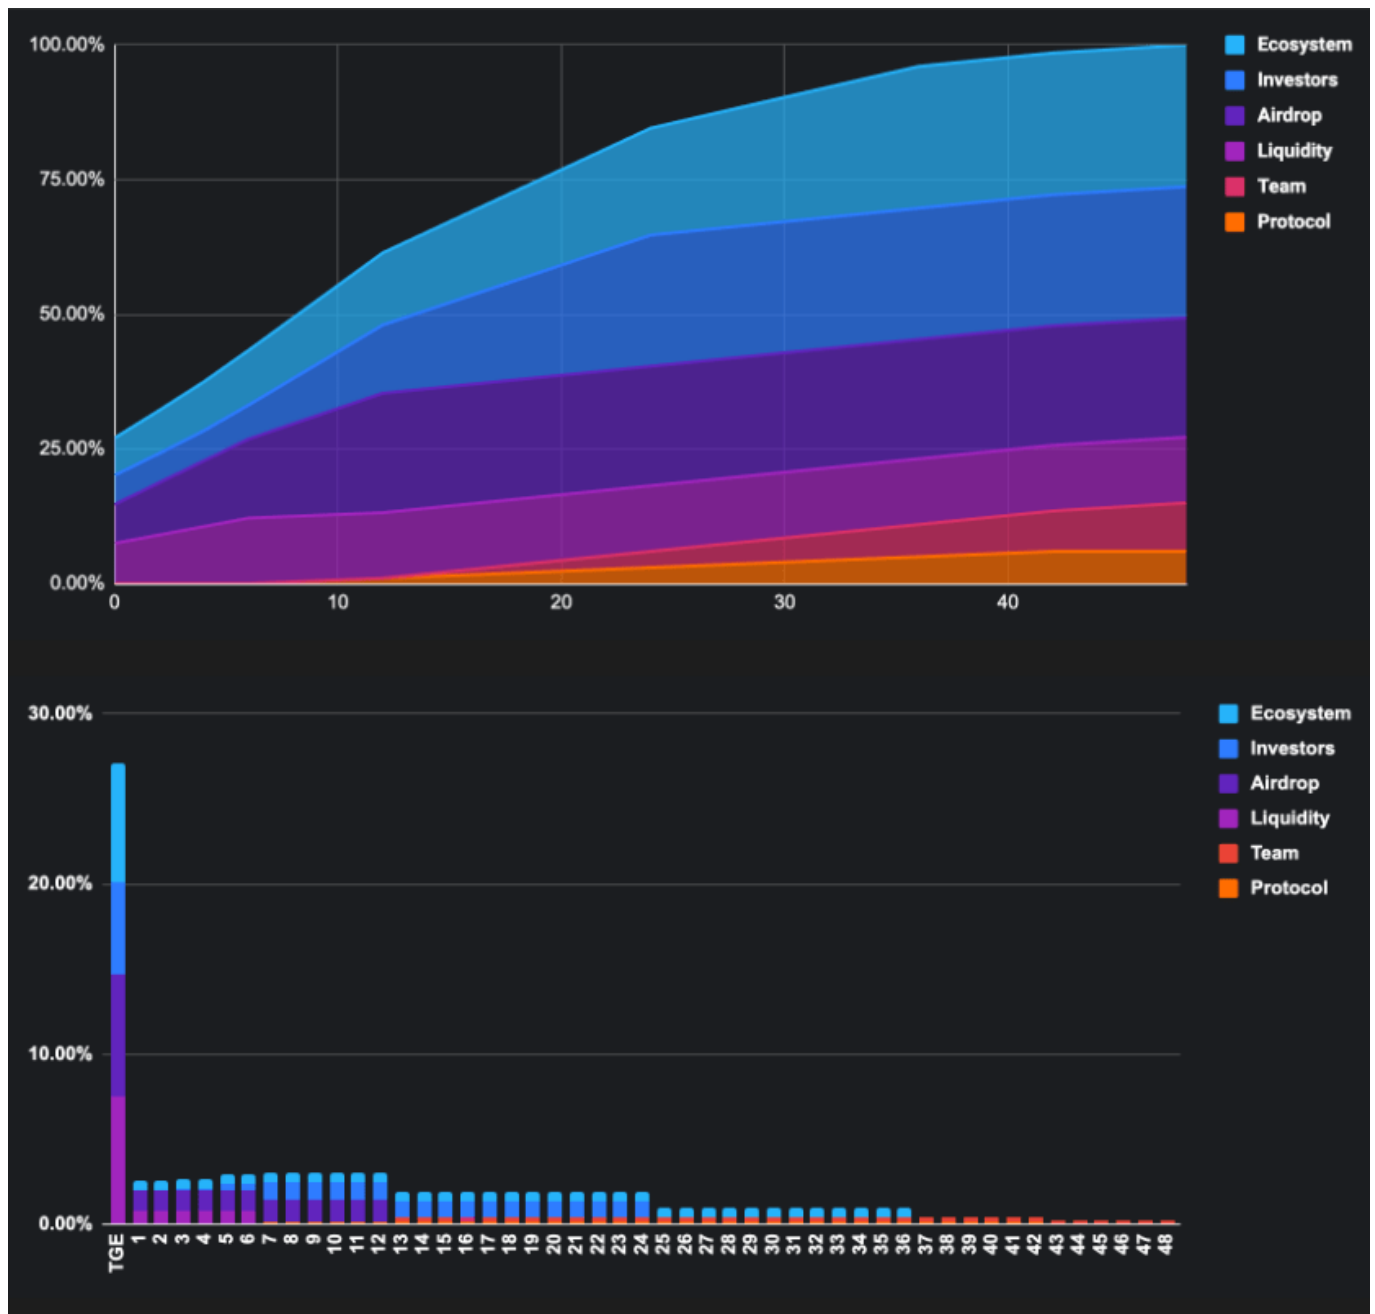

The Bubblemaps token would launch on the popular Solana network with a total supply of 1 billion. Additionally, the initial circulating supply will be distributed between the Solana and the BNB chain to ensure cross-chain accessibility through LayerZero.

BMT tokens have distributed as follows:

- Ecosystem & Community: 26.3%
- Investors: 24.3%
- Airdrop: 22.2%
- Liquidity: 12.2%
- Team: 9%
- Protocol Development and R&D: 6%

The total supply of $BMT will become fully unlocked 4 years after listing, following the emission schedule outlined below:

Bubblemaps Airdrop

In January 2025, Bubblemaps announced the launch of its BMT token, introducing an exclusive airdrop for V2 users. However, unlike traditional large-scale crypto airdrops, Bubblemaps took a more strategic approach, distributing rewards based on leaderboard rankings. This means top-ranked users receive the largest allocations, reinforcing engagement and rewarding the platform's most active participants.

While the ranking-based distribution model has sparked some debate, investors remain enthusiastic about both the airdrop and the potential price of BMT, especially with the snapshot finalized on March 10 and the token went live on March 11.

Notably, only 1,000 users will receive the airdrop, ensuring that early adopters and high-ranking participants are meaningfully incentivized. This approach reflects Bubblemaps' commitment to rewarding dedicated users while maintaining a structured and fair distribution model.
