What is Xpfinance?

About Us

Xpfinance is a decentralized, non-custodial lending and borrowing protocol built specifically for the XRP Ledger (XRPL).

Designed with transparency, efficiency, and user empowerment at its core, Xpfinance allows you to seamlessly lend and borrow crypto assets through peer-to-peer or liquidity pool models.

Lenders

Deposit your XRP, RLUSD, and other approved digital assets into liquidity pools or directly fund borrowers. Earn passive income through interest paid by borrowers.

Borrowers

Obtain secure, overcollateralized loans directly from lenders or liquidity pools, enabling flexible financial solutions with clear terms.

Whether you're new to crypto or a seasoned investor, Xpfinance makes decentralized finance (DeFi) simple, secure, and accessible.

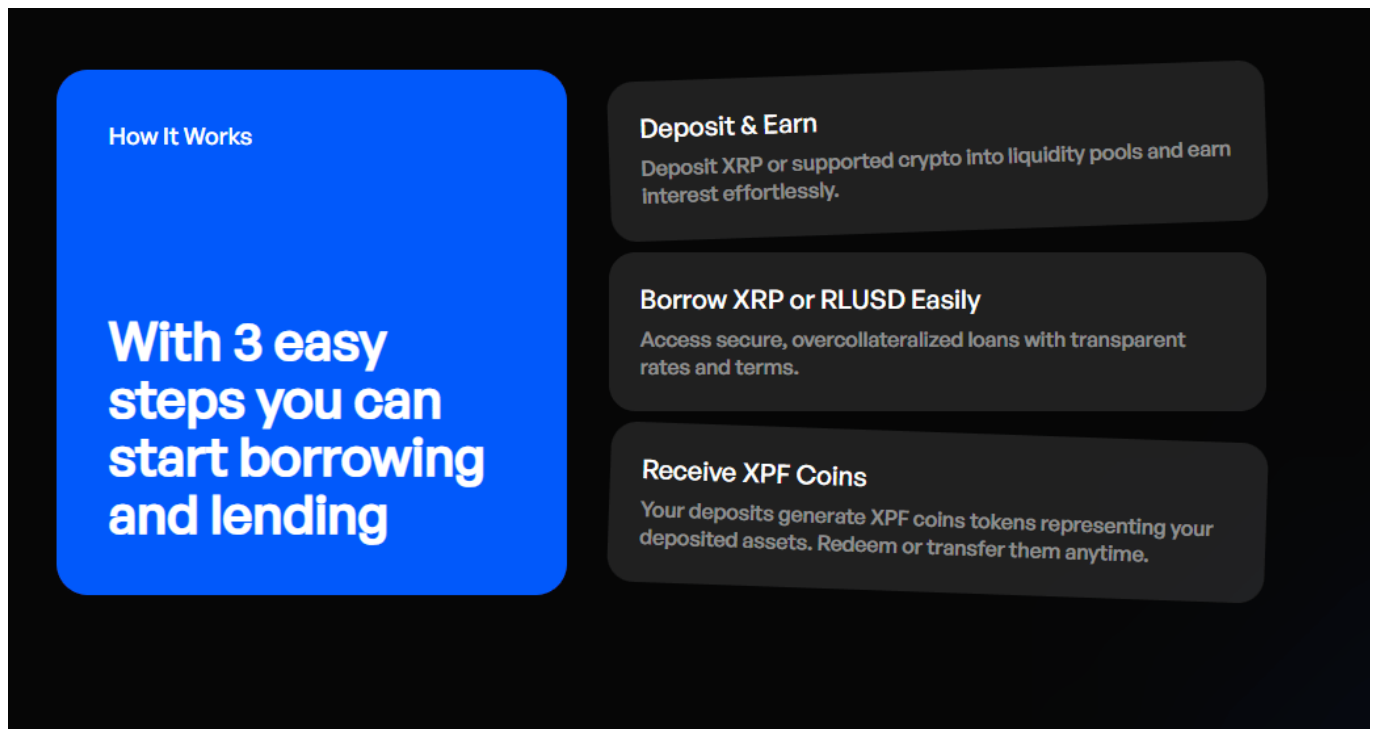

Xpfinance is the pioneering decentralized, fully non-custodial lending and borrowing protocol built natively on the XRP Ledger (XRPL). Headquartered in Vilnius, Lithuania and founded in 2025 by a team of blockchain engineers, and open-source security experts, the project's mission is to unlock dormant XRP with lightning-fast, non-custodial money markets that cost just fractions of a cent. Furthermore, the Xpfinance team is actively establishing strategic partnerships to enable their tokens as borrowable assets and integrate Xpfinance liquidity into various applications.

By eliminating several risks associated with centralized “earn” platforms—such as a lack of transparency regarding yield generation—Xpfinance addresses issues that have historically resulted in frozen withdrawals, opaque reserves, and regulatory challenges. This is achieved by executing every loan, repayment, and liquidation on-chain, allowing users to earn interest or borrow against their XRP without relinquishing custody.

Leveraging XRPL's unparalleled speed, low transaction fees, and robust security features, Xpfinance empowers users to unlock the true financial potential of their XRP while mitigating custodial risks. Designed with an emphasis on transparency, security, and simplicity, the Xpfinance platform provides XRP holders with clear and verifiable yields through over-collateralized loans. Overall, Xpfinance aims not merely to be another DeFi offering but strives to set a new standard for transparency, security, and user experience within the entire ecosystem.

How does Xpfinance Work?

Xpfinance operates as a decentralized platform that facilitates secure lending and borrowing through blockchain technology. Here's how it works:

- Deposit & Earn: Users can deposit XRP and other approved cryptocurrencies into liquidity pools. In return, they earn transparent, on-chain interest, with all transactions verifiable through the blockchain.
- Borrow & Secure: Borrowers gain access to liquidity by taking out overcollateralized loans, using their deposited crypto assets as secure collateral. This minimizes risk and ensures platform stability.
- Tokenized Deposits: When users deposit assets, they receive XPF coins—tokenized representations of their stake in the pool. These tokens can be redeemed at any time or transferred, offering flexibility and continuous liquidity.

What is the XPF Token?

At the heart of the ecosystem is $XPF, a fixed-supply utility token capped at 200 million. XPF plays several significant roles within the ecosystem, including:

- Collateral: Used for securing loans and ensuring liquidity.
- Governance Voting: Token holders actively participate in DAO governance.
- Staking Rewards: Earn additional XPF tokens through staking.
- Fee Discounts: Holders enjoy reduced fees within the platform.

Xpfinance ($XPF) Presale

Xpfinance presale started at 16:00 UTC on 8 May 2025. According to its tokenomics, with a strictly limited total supply of 200 million tokens, 30% of which are available exclusively during this presale. The scarcity-driven economics are highly attractive to early buyers.

Setting itself apart from typical XRPL token launches, XpFinance offers presale participants a fixed rate of 1 XRP = 200 XPF. This transparent pricing model guarantees fairness, clarity, and immediate upside.

Notably, the excitement is reaching fever pitch since XpFinance’s presale jumping over 10% of its soft cap in a matter of mere hours and more than 10,000 XRP have already been raised.

Upon completion, the $XPF tokens shall be immediately listed on several top XRPL DEXs like Magnetic and XP Market at approximately 30% premium from presale prices, thus rewarding the early investors with immediate gains.

Is Xpfinance ($XPF) a Good Investment in 2025?

Decentralized finance (DeFi) has already transformed how people earn, spend, and invest. Yet, despite the XRP Ledger (XRPL) being renowned for its lightning-fast settlement speeds, ultra-low fees, and carbon-efficient operations, it has long lacked a purpose-built lending layer. This is where XpFinance steps in.

XpFinance aims to become the default money market on XRPL, strategically positioned to capture the next wave of liquidity flowing into the ecosystem. Holding $XPF is not just symbolic—it’s both a revenue-generating asset and a governance tool. Token holders play an active role in protocol development through on-chain voting and will receive a share of transaction fees once mainnet lending is fully launched.

With a strictly limited total supply of 200 million tokens—30% of which is allocated to the presale—early adopters are uniquely positioned to benefit from scarcity-driven value appreciation. Whether you’re staking ten tokens or ten million, XpFinance ensures your balance sheet grows in tandem with platform activity, aligning the interests of builders, borrowers, and believers alike.

However, crypto landscape is quite volatile. Can Xpfinance ($XPF) become the next 100x crypto? It remains to be seen. All investors are advised to do enough homework and stay with great caution before making any decision regarding Xpfinance ($XPF).
