About Velas (VLX)

Velas is the world's fastest EVM Blockchain enabling up to 75 000 tx/s, processed instantly, with highest security out there, at almost for free. Velas Ecosystem consists of decentralized products built on top of its chain to present the ease of user experience of decentralized, open-source products.

VLX token is native to the Velas platform. The platform's tokenomics is based on DPoS (delegated proof of stake) economics that delivers participants with favorable situations for interaction and encourages them to function for the usefulness of the network.

What Makes Velas Different?

EVM - supports all smart contracts and DApps built on the Ethereum stack.

Instant, low - cost transactions - extremely efficient performance at a fraction of the cost.

Velas Account - passwordless solution that facilitates interaction with blockchain apps to the level of Google account and PayPal-like convenience, without sacrificing our user's security.

Access Management - a decentralized access management system, which allows users to control access to files on IPFS using multiple encryption types.

Velas Vault - a novel solution to store secrets and private keys. This enables various use cases, such as decentralized custody solutions of assets native to other blockchains (BTC, ETH, ERC-20, etc).

Velas Wallet - multi-currency wallet with staking functionality.

MicroApps - Velas will soon support cross-platform decentralized applications where not only the code (logic) is stored on-chain, but also its user interface.

How Is the Velas Network Secured?

Velas blockchain is based on high-performance protocol, which implements an innovative time architecture, transaction processing mechanism, and more efficient consensus model compared to other blockchains. Velas is the full hybrid EVM/eBPF chain of Solana and Ethereum, that inherited the best from both: security, scalability, high performance, 1.2 sec finality, extremely low fees and EVM/Solidity support.

What Can VLX Be Used For?

Velas coin (VLX) is used for transactions, payments, fees and for supporting Proof-of-Stake consensus. Staking allows block producers (validators and their delegators) to provide transaction consensus and receive staking incentives for honest block production.
